

Greetings Friend,

I believe that some of my fellows spoke to you during the Winter Solstice, about the importance of the game, the role of Mountebank and the importance of Virtuous crime. Imagine my surprise and delight that a Gatekeeper saw the virtue of our humble words and professed interest in our goals. Perhaps this is because you are suspicious of our motives, you should be and your vigilance does you credit. Maybe we are a bunch of black-hearted thugs like the despicable Vyig, hiding behind fancy words and even fancier clothes.

We are Mountebanks, lies and falsehoods are our livelihoods, our sharpest swords and most resilient shields. We know that words can be twisted and remade into any shape. Thus I trust that actions will show the Virtue of our intent and of course yours as well.

We have a target, a vile person in need of a lesson in the importance of virtue. Renate von Holberg. Made their name and fortune during the siege selling substandard foods stuffs at outrageous prices, profiteering on the suffering of the citizens of the great city. The Church has more information and members that you have meet before will be coming to Anvil at the Spring Equinox, on the Saturday at 2pm, to speak with you and others who might be interested in this little scheme of ours.

May Virtue guide our paths,

The Golden Prince
