

Stormcrow Skar,

I have arranged a place and a time.

At the Spring Equinox, bring Navarr capable of performing the Dance of Navarr and Thorn to the ruins of Dourfell Keep in Hope's Rest in the Barrens. The regio is named The Stand of the Free, and will permit them to lay the Dance over the Barrens.

The vermin that once laired in Dourfell have destroyed themselves rather than submit to the People, and their regio is mine to claim.

Once the Navarr are in place, when they are engaged in their ritual, strike them down. I shall be nearby, observing their ritual. At your signal, we will take them, and bind them, and carry them to my house in the Mallum and there, together we will wrest their secrets from them.

You and your blood will be bound to the Druj, and your children will know our ancestors, and I shall name you my Het, oh warlord Skar.

Do not betray me in this. There will be no second chances

Ghulai Greenmask