

Citizen Irada,

Wisdom encourages brevity, so I shall be to the point.

A circumstance has arisen whereby you can repay the debt you owe me from the House of Seven Mirrors.

Rubio i Cenezia i Riqueza is an extended cousin of mine on my wife's side of the family. Rubio is not a bad person, but Vigilance is not his path and more than once he has made ill-judged choices.

Rubio is currently trading in Uccelini, Sarvos, and appears to have fallen in with some bad influences. The last letter we had from Rubio contained some sentiments that I suspect are unorthodox, if not heresy. Specifically, Rubio wrote of "an Ambition for stillness, calm and contemplation" which sounds a bit peaceful to me.

Would you be able to check the Sentinel Gate for a portal to Uccelini? If so, I would consider the debt paid if you, or someone you trust, could travel there, find out what Rubio has gotten himself into, and potentially disentangle him from it, ideally without him getting into too much trouble.

I would go myself, but my duties and role as a civil servant do put me in an awkward position where family matters are concerned.

I wish you well in the pursuit of your Ambitions,

Angelo i Cenezia i Riqueza
