

The Private Auction of the Imperial Bourse has failed us

The General Assembly of the Synod judged citizens of the Empire to be Disloyal, Unprosperous, Unvigilant and Unwise' in their actions.

It would be unvirtuous of us to continue selling out heirlooms, relics and treasures to the agents of the Bourse, as they have repeatedly resulted in citizens being judged, condemned and now, excommunicated.

It goes against the core of Loyalty to punish people for having a greater loyalty to their family than to the Empire

*It strikes against the very nature of Prosperity to punish and remove the hard
won rewards of a citizen*

It contravenes the tenets of Vigilance to suggest that a citizen is to be blamed for the actions of an Eternal

It contradicts the current Cardinal of Wisdom, and the very nature of Wisdom, to punish someone for creating an outcome that you didn't want.

We must not, as an Empire, risk our wealth, for so little gain.

We must not, as Imperial Citizens, risk the Synod and the Conclave's wrath, for so little gain.

We must not, as followers of the Way, risk the souls of the Empire, for so little gain.

Authored by Friar Robin of Hay

The Private Auction of the Imperial Bourse has failed us

The General Assembly of the Synod judged citizens of the Empire to be Disloyal, Unprosperous, Unvigilant and Unwise' in their actions.

*It would be unvirtuous of us to continue selling out heirlooms, relics and treasures
to the agents of the Bourse, as they have repeatedly resulted in citizens being judged, condemned and now, excommunicated.*

It goes against the core of Loyalty to punish people for having a greater loyalty to their family than to the Empire

*It strikes against the very nature of Prosperity to punish and remove the hard
won rewards of a citizen*

*It contravenes the tenets of Vigilance to suggest that a citizen is to be blamed
for the actions of an Eternal*

It contradicts the current Cardinal of Wisdom, and the very nature of Wisdom, to punish someone for creating an outcome that you didn't want.

We must not, as an Empire, risk our wealth, for so little gain.

We must not, as Imperial Citizens, risk the Synod and the Conclave's wrath, for so little gain.

We must not, as followers of the Way, risk the souls of the Empire, for so little gain.

Authored by Friar Robin of Hay