

My dear Cardinal,

It comes to my ear that the Tribunal catacombs of Bassail's Stand have been disturbed, and a certain object rescued from the corrupting touch of the Silent One: one supposes that this might have been your agents?

You may find me in the abode I keep in Crowslook, in Karsk, on the morning of the summer solstice, should you consider there to be a bargain between us which you wish to uphold.

Until then.

Karoly Zholtam