

To some members of House Gauvain,

Your poetry arrived on a day when the Lady of Pennants ear was tuned to listen.

She has agreed that I may travel to Anvil to attend a Feast where I represent her, and another party represents another. She withholds judgment as to whether this will be the storied Feast of old and the beginning of a courtship. Since the Silvered Betrayer has changed the cycle it is not known how patterns flow.

But she does say this:

She expects a return for her generosity in allowing this event to take place at the Summer Solstice. She expects that you and yours will exert yourselves towards two major goals:

First - you will give of your power to those who are chosen to fight for the Lion of Summer in the Tourney for the Summer College.

OOO note for player: Remove this before taking letter into play. Please ask to contact plotwriter Katq via radio for support with planning the logistics for E3.

Second - you will lend of your skill and diplomacy to support the Lady Izett, the Archmage of Summer and others who properly understand the might of the Lion of Summer in their efforts to make that recognition official..

You will be expected to account to me at the Feast as to how you have contributed to each.

I will send Crescendo, to discuss details of the Feast and how and precisely when it shall be run.

One final word - you have praised Hayaak in words - but my Lady still asks - what strength does he have? What power does he command? What will you do, to reflect the power you believe he has? Or will you chose another to send one to the Feast?

I am

The Leonine Child

To some members of House Gauvain,

Your poetry arrived on a day when the Lady of Pennants ear was tuned to listen.

She has agreed that I may travel to Anvil to attend a Feast where I represent her, and another party represents another. She withholds judgment as to whether this will be the storied Feast of old and the beginning of a courtship. Since the Silvered Betrayer has changed the cycle it is not known how patterns flow.

But she does say this:

She expects a return for her generosity in allowing this event to take place at the Summer Solstice. She expects that you and yours will exert yourselves towards two major goals:

First - you will give of your power to those who are chosen to fight for the Lion of Summer in the Tourney for the Summer College.

OOO note for player: Remove this before taking letter into play. Please ask to contact plotwriter Katq via radio for support with planning the logistics for E3.

Second - you will lend of your skill and diplomacy to support the Lady Izett, the Archmage of Summer and others who properly understand the might of the Lion of Summer in their efforts to make that recognition official..

You will be expected to account to me at the Feast as to how you have contributed to each.

I will send Crescendo, to discuss details of the Feast and how and precisely when it shall be run.

One final word - you have praised Hayaak in words - but my Lady still asks - what strength does he have? What power does he command? What will you do, to reflect the power you believe he has? Or will you chose another to send one to the Feast?

I am

The Leonine Child

To some members of House Gauvain,

Your poetry arrived on a day when the Lady of Pennants ear was tuned to listen.

She has agreed that I may travel to Anvil to attend a Feast where I represent her, and another party represents another. She withholds judgment as to whether this will be the storied Feast of old and the beginning of a courtship. Since the Silvered Betrayer has changed the cycle it is not known how patterns flow.

But she does say this:

She expects a return for her generosity in allowing this event to take place at the Summer Solstice. She expects that you and yours will exert yourselves towards two major goals:

First - you will give of your power to those who are chosen to fight for the Lion of Summer in the Tourney for the Summer College.

OOO note for player: Remove this before taking letter into play. Please ask to contact plotwriter Katq via radio for support with planning the logistics for E3.

Second - you will lend of your skill and diplomacy to support the Lady Izett, the Archmage of Summer and others who properly understand the might of the Lion of Summer in their efforts to make that recognition official..

You will be expected to account to me at the Feast as to how you have contributed to each.

I will send Crescendo, to discuss details of the Feast and how and precisely when it shall be run.

One final word - you have praised Hayaak in words - but my Lady still asks - what strength does he have? What power does he command? What will you do, to reflect the power you believe he has? Or will you chose another to send one to the Feast?

I am

The Leonine Child

To some members of House Gauvain,

Your poetry arrived on a day when the Lady of Pennants ear was tuned to listen.

She has agreed that I may travel to Anvil to attend a Feast where I represent her, and another party represents another. She withholds judgment as to whether this will be the storied Feast of old and the beginning of a courtship. Since the Silvered Betrayer has changed the cycle it is not known how patterns flow.

But she does say this:

She expects a return for her generosity in allowing this event to take place at the Summer Solstice. She expects that you and yours will exert yourselves towards two major goals:

First - you will give of your power to those who are chosen to fight for the Lion of Summer in the Tourney for the Summer College.

OOO note for player: Remove this before taking letter into play. Please ask to contact plotwriter Katq via radio for support with planning the logistics for E3.

Second - you will lend of your skill and diplomacy to support the Lady Izett, the Archmage of Summer and others who properly understand the might of the Lion of Summer in their efforts to make that recognition official..

You will be expected to account to me at the Feast as to how you have contributed to each.

I will send Crescendo, to discuss details of the Feast and how and precisely when it shall be run.

One final word - you have praised Hayaak in words - but my Lady still asks - what strength does he have? What power does he command? What will you do, to reflect the power you believe he has? Or will you chose another to send one to the Feast?

I am

The Leonine Child