

Artem of Temeschwar

Thank you for taking on the contract to sell tickets to The Argent Gateau and confirming your sales.

Ticket holders, including yourself, are to be welcomed to an Autumn Chamber at 3 in the afternoon of the Saturday of this Equinox. One of my fellow heralds will greet you in the Hall of Worlds and take you through. Please take care not to follow a party to the Spirit Market instead, that is held in a different chamber.

I have also notified those you sold tickets to directly.

The Sovereign Lord of the City of Chains is pleased with the amount you are prepared to offer him from your ticket sales. It shows appetite and ambition on your part and on the part of those who have paid well to join the game.

Please hand over the 6 Thrones you have offered the Prince of the Argent Tontine to the Herald at the start of the game.

The contract offered a boon to be chosen by the Prince in return for the amount offered. However you were not the ticket seller who offered the highest amount.

I refer you to the clause

“If the share of profits I offer to Callidus equals less than twice the amount of either of my competitor ticket sellers, then The Argent Prince will no longer be expected to provide a boon but will instead simply take the profits offered for himself.”

Still I expect your disappointment will only be swift. There are richer rewards and boons available in the cutting of the cake. Though risks too of course.

You may like to know that among these rewards – there are some related to the Spirit Market and bidding there in. Additionally, we expect the game will complete before the Spirit Market closes.

Should you be unable to attend, you may pass your ticket to another, along with this letter and your signature together with a statement that this is your wish.

May the game be rich and the gateau taste good

Lanister
Secretary to Callidus

Cormack Dunn

Thank you for taking on the contract to sell tickets to The Argent Gateau and confirming your sales.

Ticket holders, including yourself, are to be welcomed to an Autumn Chamber at 3 in the afternoon of the Saturday of this Equinox. One of my fellow heralds will greet you in the Hall of Worlds and take you through. Please take care not to follow a party to the Spirit Market instead, that is held in a different chamber.

I have also notified those you sold tickets to directly.

The Sovereign Lord of the City of Chains is pleased with the amount you are prepared to offer him from your ticket sales. It shows appetite and ambition on your part and on the part of those who have paid well to join the game.

Please hand over the 10 thrones 1 ring you have offered the Prince of the Argent Tontine to the Herald at the start of the game.

The contract offered a boon to be chosen by the Prince in return for the amount offered. You almost earned that boon.

I refer you to the clause

“If the share of profits I offer to Callidus equals less than twice the amount of either of my competitor ticket sellers, then The Argent Prince will no longer be expected to provide a boon but will instead simply take the profits offered for himself.”

Unfortunately one of your competitor sellers offered 6 thrones.

Still I expect your disappointment will only be swift. There are richer rewards and boons available in the cutting of the cake. Though risks too of course.

You may like to know that among these rewards – there are some related to the Spirit Market and bidding there in. Additionally, we expect the game will complete before the Spirit Market closes.

Should you be unable to attend, you may pass your ticket to another, along with this letter and your signature together with a statement that this is your wish.

May the game be rich and the gateau taste good

Lanister
Secretary to Callidus