

To the Stormcrow Jorma Steelhail, Gatekeeper of Courage,

I write to you to inform you that I refuse here and now your summons to Anvil. My courage is not lacking, and I know where my loyalties lie. I walk in virtue, ready to act as I must.

If the Gatekeepers wish for me to receive a dose of True Liao, then that is good. But I will not come to be allow you to dangle that particular carrot for me.

If you wish to study my virtue, if you wish to discuss with me matters of my stein, or my spiritual well-being then come here. Come to Crow's Ridge. Look to the Sentinel Gate, perhaps in the future it will allow you to come here.
