

Citizens of the Empire

The Heralds of The Loquacious One have visited the appointed locations. It is has been hot for us and for you. There are a few named who have not collected their tokens from us.

Rest assured we will return, on the Friday evening of the next Summit, the Autumn Equinox. Soon after the start of the Summit, you will find us near the Regio, with some remaining feathers.

Remember also to look out for notification in the Winds of how and when to use the feathers, and try not to forget to write your Letters!
