

Pillaging the Thule

Your warband returns after a season's raiding against the Thule. There is some damaged equipment, some cuts and bruises. But by and large it looks like they stuck to your orders, engaging only lightly defended camps and "commandeering" supplies. Maggot's work, some would call it, others might say spoils of war. Either way, you smile as they empty a sack before you containing what was once property of the Thule, now yours, might making right in this case.

In addition to more mundane goods, your eyes are drawn to a battered, old looking coin on a piece of leather thong, apparently found in a box of mostly worthless trinkets hidden a Thule warrior's bedroll.

OOO Note

This season your pillaged spoils of war include:

2 ilium

3 white granite

7 crystal mana

18 ingots of tempest jade

8 ingots of weltsilver

2 ingots of orichalcum

9 crowns in silver, gold, random gemstones, jewellery and other such nicknacks

In addition to the resources pillaged by your troops, you should have ribbon ID 8648 in your pack, along with a PD physrep coin (not the normal ring, crown or throne pieces).

If you have picked up your pack before this has been placed inside, please check back at GOD in a few hours. It should be ready well before time-in on Friday.
