I hear you've paid the Toad King to hear his best insults. I can handle that for you. Your time is good, meet me at the Regio in Anvil at 7 on this first evening of the Spring Equinox – though I'd be surprised if we can see the moon then. Find somewhere good and public for us to put our words to the test. Not too far from the Regio though – I've neither time nor ability to go traipsing all over the mortal realm for this.
