

Rosie Smith's Curse

Curse ID: 36452

Your vision is briefly consumed by a vast ball of red fire, which you see again every time you close your eyes.

In the distance you hear the familiar sounds of your personal resource. If you focus on these sounds you think you can hear imminent disaster - something about to collapse, or someone plotting against you. This can be suppressed by meddling with the plans of others, especially those you are close to.

This lasts until the start of the Winter Solstice 385.

Rosie Smith's Curse

Curse ID: 36452

Your vision is briefly consumed by a vast ball of red fire, which you see again every time you close your eyes.

In the distance you hear the familiar sounds of your personal resource. If you focus on these sounds you think you can hear imminent disaster - something about to collapse, or someone plotting against you. This can be suppressed by meddling with the plans of others, especially those you are close to.

This lasts until the start of the Winter Solstice 385.

Rosie Smith's Curse

Curse ID: 36452

Your vision is briefly consumed by a vast ball of red fire, which you see again every time you close your eyes.

In the distance you hear the familiar sounds of your personal resource. If you focus on these sounds you think you can hear imminent disaster - something about to collapse, or someone plotting against you. This can be suppressed by meddling with the plans of others, especially those you are close to.

This lasts until the start of the Winter Solstice 385.

Rosie Smith's Curse

Curse ID: 36452

Your vision is briefly consumed by a vast ball of red fire, which you see again every time you close your eyes.

In the distance you hear the familiar sounds of your personal resource. If you focus on these sounds you think you can hear imminent disaster - something about to collapse, or someone plotting against you. This can be suppressed by meddling with the plans of others, especially those you are close to.

This lasts until the start of the Winter Solstice 385.

Curse: Hunt of the Hen

You cannot recover hero points or personal mana naturally, or through the use of a Dragonbone Symbol, or an enchanted aura such as The Chamber of Delights. You recover any used mana and hero points at the start of each month and other effects that restore hero points or mana points work normally. This curse lasts for 1 year.

Curse ID: 36444

Whenever you sleep you suffer nightmares of being hunted through a dark forest by an implacable, inescapable foe. Whenever you catch a glimpse of it, it is a massive avian horror with blazing eyes and a beak full of horrible, razor-sharp teeth..

Whenever you are alone, you feel as if this creature is closing in on you, especially if it is night time, experiencing auditory hallucinations of rustling feathers, clacking beak, grinding teeth, and skittering talons.

Curse: Hunt of the Hen

You cannot recover hero points or personal mana naturally, or through the use of a Dragonbone Symbol, or an enchanted aura such as The Chamber of Delights. You recover any used mana and hero points at the start of each month and other effects that restore hero points or mana points work normally.

Curse ID: 36444

Whenever you sleep you suffer nightmares of being hunted through a dark forest by an implacable, inescapable foe. Whenever you catch a glimpse of it, it is a massive avian horror with blazing eyes and a beak full of horrible, razor-sharp teeth..

Whenever you are alone, you feel as if this creature is closing in on you, especially if it is night time, experiencing auditory hallucinations of rustling feathers, clacking beak, grinding teeth, and skittering talons.

Curse: Hunt of the Hen

You cannot recover hero points or personal mana naturally, or through the use of a Dragonbone Symbol, or an enchanted aura such as The Chamber of Delights. You recover any used mana and hero points at the start of each month and other effects that restore hero points or mana points work normally.

Curse ID: 36444

Whenever you sleep you suffer nightmares of being hunted through a dark forest by an implacable, inescapable foe. Whenever you catch a glimpse of it, it is a massive avian horror with blazing eyes and a beak full of horrible, razor-sharp teeth..

Whenever you are alone, you feel as if this creature is closing in on you, especially if it is night time, experiencing auditory hallucinations of rustling feathers, clacking beak, grinding teeth, and skittering talons.

Curse: Hunt of the Hen

You cannot recover hero points or personal mana naturally, or through the use of a Dragonbone Symbol, or an enchanted aura such as The Chamber of Delights. You recover any used mana and hero points at the start of each month and other effects that restore hero points or mana points work normally.

Curse ID: 36444

Whenever you sleep you suffer nightmares of being hunted through a dark forest by an implacable, inescapable foe. Whenever you catch a glimpse of it, it is a massive avian horror with blazing eyes and a beak full of horrible, razor-sharp teeth..

Whenever you are alone, you feel as if this creature is closing in on you, especially if it is night time, experiencing auditory hallucinations of rustling feathers, clacking beak, grinding teeth, and skittering talons.