

Greetings from the Voivode of Chains, the Grand Herald of Ephisis, the great patron of the sentient species of the mortal realm, the munificent Pharam Vex!

It has pleased me immeasurably to see the Empire stirring from its somnolent nature and once again beginning to grasp the reigns of the world's economy. In light of such successes, I hereby extend invitation to certain Imperial citizens on whom I wish to bestow gifts or advice. You will not be bound to any agreement, contract or stipulations for attending to this audience or receiving the gifts and advice; no terms or conditions apply.

Please ensure that you are free of too many other bonds on your time during the late afternoon on the Saturday – if all is timely, I will be in session from approximately half past five, and thence onwards for perhaps an hour or so. One of my Heralds will attend to your camp during this time and bring you to my audience. In order to benefit the most from these audiences, I shall see each citizen individually and give them the entirety of my attention for the time we meet.

If you are not a magician, I would advise arranging some method of entering the Hall of Worlds so that you do not suffer disappointment.

I look forwards to meeting such luminaries and granting them the gifts they so richly deserve. I am not interested in meeting anyone other than the specific citizens I am inviting; anyone not explicitly invited by my Heralds will most certainly be subject to extensive terms and conditions.
