

Ambassador

This past season one of our merchant vessels was damaged when it ran aground on an unmarked reef off the coast of Feroz. The fact that this reef was not marked with at least a buoy is not satisfactory and furthermore we are instructed that your poorly placed lighthouse in the area was responsible for our ship running aground. As a nation who prides itself on your naval expertise such failures are unthinkable.

This ship was carrying a cargo of precious white granite to clients on the Bay of Catazar which was shed as the ship broke apart. We would normally send a work crew of labourers to recover this but we have been informed that this cargo is no longer there. Your citizens have entered the waters and removed our cargo. All eight wains of Granite have been removed.

The captain of our vessel claimed that the freeborn who removed our merchandise go by the name of the House of the Sixth Wind. They have refused to return our property, saying that all negotiations should go through "proper" channels. So we instruct you to arrange the return of our goods.

We realise that this may come at some cost to you and thus we are willing to offer a reward of one Crown (Imperial) for each wain of Granite recovered.

You have an opportunity to correct this mistake. It would be in the interests of both our nations that you take advantage of it.

Laguna Meada,

Slave of the sixth Rank in service to House Tarquinius.
