

Darling Adelina,

I was most inspired by your poetry, and would love to see it in performance. Please do come along to my salon, at 7pm on Saturday - and should any of the other League poets wish to come along and demonstrate their words in motion, you may bring one or two of the best.

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.

To my agent Marius,

I would love to hear of the work you have done, and can do, in spreading my good name through the Empire. Perhaps you could bring some of your tales of adventure, intrigue, farce and gossip to entertain the salon I am holding, at 7pm on Saturday.

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.

To the great songwriter, Evaristo i Erigo,

I would be honoured if you could come and perform your great work at my salon, 7pm on Saturday. If your talents do not lie in singing as well as songwriting you may bring one other person to perform it - but I would request that you find someone who is not of your coven, if possible?

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.

To the great songwriter, Constanza i Kasamar i Guerra,

I would be honoured if you could come and perform your great work at my salon, 7pm on Saturday. If your talents do not lie in singing as well as songwriting you may bring one other person to teach it to the assembled - but I would request that you find someone who is not of your nation, if possible?

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.

To Lucian Vivaci Rezia Di Tassato, The Greatest Giscebec in all of Tassato,

Your chance to tell tales of your exploits has arrived! You are sure to find an appreciative audience in my salon, being held in my domain at 7pm on Saturday. Perhaps there we could talk and see if something else might blessen, himn?

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.

Dearest Ludmilla,

Your desire for a meeting with myself has been granted! Simply present yourself to the herald in the Hall of Worlds at 7pm on Saturday and you will be ushered in to my Imperial Salon. All that I ask in return is that you bring a story to exchange with the audience.

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.

To the mysterious Felix Starspire,

I would thoroughly enjoy hearing the tales of your hidden origins and helping you share your appreciation of story-telling. Do please come to my salon at 7pm on Saturday, where I believe you will be regaled with all manner of cool stories in addition to your own.

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.

To the great singer, Bessamy Aurelius,

My heralds have commended your voice to me, and I would love to hear it in person. Simply present yourself to the herald in the Hall of Worlds at 7pm on Saturday and you will be ushered in to my Imperial Salon. All that I ask in return is that you bring a song to share with the assembled.

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.

To the artist of Saments, Claude de Lusangian,

My heralds have commended your voice to me, and I would love to hear it in person. Simply present yourself to the herald in the Hall of Worlds at 7pm on Saturday and you will be ushered in to my Imperial Salon. All that I ask in return is that you bring a song to share with the assembled.

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.

To the Bloodcrows Martek + Kannak,

A little bird tells me that you wish to know about the Summoning of Loquacious Birds, which was apparently stolen from someone called the Hearder? I would quite like to hear your side of the tale - of the theft, of the Hearder, of what Thrace means to you - and then perhaps I can supply a few other details. Come to my salon - 7pm on Saturday - and tell your tale, and I shall tell mine.

Yours in the hope of further communication,

Lashonar.
