

Congregation Update

In the months following the Spring Equinox, the citizens and pilgrims that make up your congregation bring you troubling news. A cult, calling itself the Red Hand of the Firestarter, has been stirring up strife across Varushka in the wake of the execution of two of their members at the summit.

Typically, a pair of travellers will arrive in a settlement. They receive hospitality and come bearing large quantities of food and drink which they share generously, and is good. The revels that follow go late into the night with much merriment.

Come the parting, with earnest words and exhortations, the pair provide gifts in the form of blasphemous auras of anarchy, either tainting artisan-crafted goods or saturating public meeting places with selfish impulses.

And so this sect, dedicated to the false path of anarchy has spread its poison.

As yet, the dissent and strife caused by these auras has not impacted on the productivity of labourers. This is only due to the swift action of pious citizens alerting wise ones, pilgrims and priests with the arts to combat it.

The civil servant who delivers your share of ceremonial liao informs you that if the blasphemous sect is not addressed then, in order to avoid impact on productivity, they will need to divert liao resources to deal with malign spiritual presences. This will impact on the liao you will receive for the Autumn Equinox.

The civil servant speculates that a few small units – 3 or 4 – could flush out, and hunt down, the cultists. Yet for this to happen will require a resolution in the Senate granting them authority to do so.

NB: If you are an exorcist and wish to claim to have been involved in the exorcisms, you can do so.

Congregation Update

In the months following the Spring Equinox, the citizens and pilgrims that make up your congregation bring you troubling news. A cult, calling itself the Red Hand of the Firestarter, has been stirring up strife across Varushka in the wake of the execution of two of their members at the summit.

Typically, a pair of travellers will arrive in a settlement. They receive hospitality and come bearing large quantities of food and drink which they share generously, and is good. The revels that follow go late into the night with much merriment.

Come the parting, with earnest words and exhortations, the pair provide gifts in the form of blasphemous auras of anarchy, either tainting artisan-crafted goods or saturating public meeting places with selfish impulses.

And so this sect, dedicated to the false path of anarchy has spread its poison.

As yet, the dissent and strife caused by these auras has not impacted on the productivity of labourers. This is only due to the swift action of pious citizens alerting wise ones, pilgrims and priests with the arts to combat it.

The civil servant who delivers your share of ceremonial liao informs you that if the blasphemous sect is not addressed then, in order to avoid impact on productivity, they will need to divert liao resources to deal with malign spiritual presences. This will impact on the liao you will receive for the Autumn Equinox.

The civil servant speculates that a few small units – 3 or 4 – could flush out, and hunt down, the cultists. Yet for this to happen will require a resolution in the Senate granting them authority to do so.

NB: If you are an exorcist and wish to claim to have been involved in the exorcisms, you can do so.