

General Jericho; Valiant Pegasus

The filth of the Druj has gone from our land, although there it seem to have been replaced by some abomination of the Eternals, defiling the bodies and the relics of our people.

My chapter have fought against the Druj since they took this land, but this new threat I do not know how to fight. I am grateful for whoever organised the recovery of the bodies which I have tried to help in.

I was wondering if I could meet with you, (or one of my Chapter if I cannot make it in person), at Anvil, so we can discuss the situation in Reikos and talk about what we do now. The Druj have gone. There are creatures beyond my ken to fight but I know in my heart that the time to rebuild must start

May all your actions be with Pride in your heart
