

THE TRUTH OF ATUMAN GREAT PARAGON OF AMBITION

Atuman was one of two Navigators who led the Highborn from inevitable annihilation by plague in their former home to found the great city of Pharos. With impossible charisma he drew seventeen ships, their divided leaders and terrified people to his banner; with an impossible vision of an undiscovered land across the sea he set sail; against impossible odds, he triumphed.

For his unprecedented Ambition he was recognised as a Paragon.

· BENEVOLENCE ·

- He led his people from the Sarcophan Horror to safety in Highguard ·

· INSPIRATION ·

- Laid the foundation for the realisation of Human Destiny ·

· LEGACY ·

- With his sister Atun he founded the nation of Highguard ·

· PILGRIMAGE ·

- He led the first of all Pilgrimages to the Holy City: he founded it ·

· MIRACLES ·

- Quelled storms with his voice · Compelled the calm sea to cast his fleet onward ·

· LIBERATION AND RETURN ·

- He achieved Liberation and willingly returned to form the League ·
 - Aldones di Sarvos was crucial to the formation of the Empire ·
 - Atuman's Ambition to further Human Destiny transcended lives ·

THE TRUTH OF ATUMAN GREAT PARAGON OF AMBITION

Atuman lived at a crucial time in human history.

He transformed a dying nation into the light of the world.

Reborn as Aldones di Sarvos, he became the First Empress' key ally. Aldones took Pure Liao and received the proof he feared to reveal, but for the sake of petty politics his Guide betrayed him and sought to humiliate the Highborn who venerated the Paragon Atuman.

Atuman is rightly recognised as a Paragon of Ambition.

The flawed human politics of the early Synod saw him “dethroned”.

Aldones di Sarvos never wanted to dethrone his Past-Self.

A Paragon returned to the mortal world to guide his people,
Prince Aldones di Sarvos sought to reveal the truth:

THE SIGN OF LIBERATION IS FLAWED

- It is neither necessary nor sufficient for legal Paragonhood ·
- Atuman/Aldones present compelling evidence for Yael's second lesson: ·
- That Liberated souls have the power to return to the mortal world ·

ATUMAN MUST BE REINSTATED

It is beneath the dignity of humankind to allow the unprecedented, illegal and nonsensical “revocation” of the Great Paragon Atuman the Navigator to stand.

Furthermore, we propose a public debate on the nature of Liberation in the light of Yael's true discovery: that Liberated souls may choose to return to the mortal realm to continue the work of humankind.

Enquiries to the Exarch of the Inheritance of Atuman, Bastion City, Bastion.

THE TRUTH OF ATUMAN GREAT PARAGON OF AMBITION

Atuman was one of two Navigators who led the Highborn from inevitable annihilation by plague in their former home to found the great city of Pharos. With impossible charisma he drew seventeen ships, their divided leaders and terrified people to his banner; with an impossible vision of an undiscovered land across the sea he set sail; against impossible odds, he triumphed.

For his unprecedented Ambition he was recognised as a Paragon.

· BENEVOLENCE ·

- He led his people from the Sarcophan Horror to safety in Highguard ·

· INSPIRATION ·

- Laid the foundation for the realisation of Human Destiny ·

· LEGACY ·

- With his sister Atun he founded the nation of Highguard ·

· PILGRIMAGE ·

- He led the first of all Pilgrimages to the Holy City: he founded it ·

· MIRACLES ·

- Quelled storms with his voice · Compelled the calm sea to cast his fleet onward ·

· LIBERATION AND RETURN ·

- He achieved Liberation and willingly returned to form the League ·
 - Aldones di Sarvos was crucial to the formation of the Empire ·
 - Atuman's Ambition to further Human Destiny transcended lives ·

THE TRUTH OF ATUMAN GREAT PARAGON OF AMBITION

Atuman lived at a crucial time in human history.

He transformed a dying nation into the light of the world.

Reborn as Aldones di Sarvos, he became the First Empress' key ally. Aldones took Pure Liao and received the proof he feared to reveal, but for the sake of petty politics his Guide betrayed him and sought to humiliate the Highborn who venerated the Paragon Atuman.

Atuman is rightly recognised as a Paragon of Ambition.

The flawed human politics of the early Synod saw him “dethroned”.

Aldones di Sarvos never wanted to dethrone his Past-Self.

A Paragon returned to the mortal world to guide his people,
Prince Aldones di Sarvos sought to reveal the truth:

THE SIGN OF LIBERATION IS FLAWED

- It is neither necessary nor sufficient for legal Paragonhood ·
- Atuman/Aldones present compelling evidence for Yael's second lesson: ·
- That Liberated souls have the power to return to the mortal world ·

ATUMAN MUST BE REINSTATED

It is beneath the dignity of humankind to allow the unprecedented, illegal and nonsensical “revocation” of the Great Paragon Atuman the Navigator to stand.

Furthermore, we propose a public debate on the nature of Liberation in the light of Yael's true discovery: that Liberated souls may choose to return to the mortal realm to continue the work of humankind.

Enquiries to the Exarch of the Inheritance of Atuman, Bastion City, Bastion.