

Greetings Amund en Craite

My name is Anya of Highguard, I am an agent for The Hungry Wolf, The Tomb King, the Eternal also known as Sorin.

I have asked friends in the Imperial Civil Service and in Inns and Hostelries across the Empire, if they know of relative newcomers to Anvil who have an understanding of suffering and how it strengthens us.

Your name has been mentioned.

And so I invite you.

Exquy, Herald of The Hungry Wolf is currently running the Trials of the Pallid Charm. You cannot enter, they began back at the Autumn Equinox.

But if you find the relationship between suffering and understanding our true nature interesting, you are invited to attend a meeting when the participants in the Trials will be learning more about their next challenge.

You may find you can assist them. Or you may simply wish the Heralds of the Empty Chamber to know your name.

Should you wish to – meet me and my friend Agnes in the Imperial Senate at 8 on the first evening of this Spring Equinox.

Should you not wish to attend, there is no shame or worry, I will not disturb you again.

Anya
