

A woman dressed in rugged travel clothes approaches. She has a satchel by her side and opens it withdrawing a letter. "i think this is for you"

To the members of the House Tallstag,

I hope my letter finds you well. Concerning your current challenge, I believe there is an opportunity presenting itself in the coming winter. In the forest of Liathhaven near Liath's Heart lies a shrouded grove. Here will be an opportunity to fight as your challenge demands.

While not an express part of your challenge, Barien requests you recover an item from within these woods. Proof of the demise of a prestigious jotun Jarl known as Jarl Marik of the Crimson Banner. I wish you luck on your journeys.

May you overcome your challenges

Revel